

Pick up the small black metal palette,

(a hand picks up the palette box)

unscrew the top,

(he unscrews the brass top)

and pour water into the reservoir

(he pours water into the small black reservoir)

then screw the top back on.

(he screws the top back on)

Flip the finger ring out on the back and slip onto your finger in either hand.

(he slips the finger ring on his left hand and opens the top of the palette box to reveal the 8 watercolors within.)

Open the palette and slip the reservoir onto the side.

(he inserts the reservoir onto the side of the palette box)

Wet your Pseudo Sable Travel Brush, load with paint,

(he dips the travel brush in water, then dips it into paint)

and you're ready to watercolor!

(A rather hairy hand paints a turquoise stroke on an open sketchbook page.)
